Show Synopsis

We meet Jacob, an eighteen-year-old young man from the Meadows in Nottingham. He is talking to the audience about the day he killed a man called James. He is talking from the future about the past.

Jacob and his friend Raf are drunk and walking from the Meadows to town on a hot July day. They bump into people who are leaving a cricket match at Trent Bridge, and pick fights with them.

Jacob and his friends drink in lots of pubs in town, before becoming separated. Jacob meets a woman called Clare, who he flirts with, before Raf rings him to tell him to join in with their fight at Market Square.

Jacob runs to join the fight, and we see him getting ready to join in. The theatre goes black, and we meet young Jacob.

We meet Jacob's mum and grandma. Jacob's mum tells Jacob he is her little angel. His grandma tells him we all need a stake in the world to leave a mark.

As Jacob gets older, and he goes to secondary school, he befriends people in his year who encourage him to misbehave. He is diagnosed with ADHD, Dyslexia, and Autism.

Jacob begins to hang around with dangerous groups of people in the Meadows, taking drugs and getting involved in fights. He deals drugs and stops attending school as much.

Jacob talks about the different gangs in the area, and how they would get into fights. He talks about how some people would carry knives, but he didn't.

Jacob's Mum is upset with Jacob, as he keeps missing school. She tries to tell him to go back to school, but Jacob doesn't listen.

We flash forward to just after Jacob attacks James. James is in hospital with a head injury. His parents, Joan and David, are very worried about him.

Meanwhile, Jacob has fled from the scene of the incident, back to the Meadows. He hopes to avoid what has happened and is upset when Raf calls him to let him know that James is badly hurt.

Jacob gets a call from his Mum, who says that the police are at their house. Jacob panics, and denies any wrongdoing, before throwing his phone into the River Trent.

Raf has told the police that it was Jacob who hit James, and Jacob goes to court where he hears that he has been sentenced to spend time in prison for killing James.

Joan and David watch Jacob go, and are upset at his prison sentence, as they do not think it is long enough. They are angry and confused about what has happened.

Jacob is moved into prison, where he is surrounded by other young offenders. They are all angry, and talking about getting back at the people who put them in prison when they get out.

Joan and David struggle with their grief. David appeals Jacob's court sentence, wanting it to be longer. They feel like they have no support, and no answers to their questions.

In a search for answers, Joan and David meet with Restorative Justice, who hope that opening a conversation with Jacob will help them come to terms with what happened to James.

Jacob's parole officer tells Jacob that Joan and David want to get in contact with him, and he is open to the idea but confused. He is struggling after leaving prison.

Jacob returns to his Mum's house after leaving prison. She has lost her license to be a child minder due to Jacob's crime, and is struggling with alcohol addiction. Jacob is upset to have negatively impacted her life.

Joan and David compose their letter to Jacob, asking him questions about why he attacked James, and if he had any martial arts training. They send Jacob the letter, and await a response.

Jacob writes back to them, and confirms that he didn't know James. They begin a dialogue, and Jacob starts to rebuild his life through work and resitting his GCSEs.

After their conversation continues, Joan and David learn more about Jacob. They learn that his Mum has died. After two years, they decide to meet up in person, the final stage of Restorative Justice.

They offer to act as a reference for Jacob as he goes to University, stating that James would always have done the good thing in life. They are acting in James' honour, and looking to make sure two lives aren't wasted.

In the present day, Joan and Jacob talk about the benefits of Restorative Justice in the news. Jacob asks Joan and David for forgiveness, which they cannot give, but they continue to talk and work together to prevent further deaths like that of James.

The final scene sees Jacob as a grown man with a family, and speaking about the benefits of Restorative Justice. He is campaigning to ensure that young men like him don't make the same choices he did.

Frequently Asked Questions:

Have the victims' family been involved in the creation of this play?

Nottingham Playhouse would not have commissioned this play without the prior approval of James Hodgkinson's family. We continue to respect the family's wishes at all stages of the play's production. We are committed to honour the stated wish of James' parents – Joan and David – that two lives should not be wasted as a consequence of the manslaughter of their son. We seek to support them in raising awareness about the dangers of one punch and the benefits of Restorative Justice.

Will Nottingham Playhouse and Young Vic be making a profit from this play?

Nottingham Playhouse and Young Vic are charities and so any surplus made from our activities, including this production, will be directed back into our charitable purposes. This includes our engagement programmes – we have a long track record of success in delivering transformation projects and have seen the positive impact of engaging creatively with young people at risk of falling through the cracks in society.

Where can I find support if the themes of this play affected me?

We know that the subject matter of the play is challenging. To support audiences, we are providing:

Self-Care Suggestions

Before The Show

Read the Summary or Synopsis

Preparing yourself by reading the summary, synopsis, or content warnings in this document may help you decide if you are comfortable with the content, and also help you gauge if there are any points you may not be comfortable with.

During The Show

Watch With Someone

Attending the show with someone who you trust, who knows you and your connection to the subject of the play, may help with the experience. They may be able to recognise when you need help or support and can assist you.

Step Away

It is important to know in yourself when it is time to step away, and there is nothing wrong with deciding that the show is not for you or is too much. The Front of House team are on hand if you want to leave.

Talk

We will be hosting post-show talks in the auditorium on 11 March and 19 March which will explore themes covered in the show.

Breathe

Breathing is a good way to help you feel calm. Try breathing in for four seconds, holding your breath for four seconds, then exhaling for four seconds. Repeat this as long as you need. This is called Box Breathing.

Ask For Help

If you found the content of Punch distressing, try talking to someone you trust or contacting one of the organisations listed above.
